IS MR. NOON A CITIZEN?

Rather a perplexing question that relates to Common Council.

At the recent municipal election the candidates for common council in the Eighteenth ward were James P. Noon and W. M. Williams. Mr. Noon was the victor by more than a score of votes.

It may transpire that another election will have to be ordered, as there is a serious question as to Mr. Noon's eligibility according to the statement of Mr. Williams' friends made to a TRIBUNE reporter yesterday. Mr. Noon is not a citizen of the United States. According to the best information on the subject, Mr. Noon came to this country at the age of 11 years. The date of his arrival as fixed by Mr. Williams' friends is eighteen years ago. They have searched the records in the court house and no such person as James P. Noon appears as having taken out naturalization papers since the organization of the county in 1878. If the facts are as stated by Mr. Williams, it is not eligible, because he would not be without a representative in common council until a special election should be ordered by Mayor Connell.

A PLUMBING INSPECTOR.

Agitation Looking Toward the Creation of Such an Office.

The question of having the office of plumbing inspector created by the city council is being agitated by some of plumbers of the city.

Such an official, they say, would insure plumbing work being done in the most approved sanitary manner and be beneficial to health.

Owing the parsimony of those who erect buildings and the carelessness of contractors, it is claimed that the plumbing in many dwellings and business and office buildings of the city is far from perfect.

NOTES OF SOUTH SIDE

Happenings of a Day That Will Interest Many Tribune Readers.

WANT THE APPROPRIATION DIVIDED

Members of the William Connell and Century Companies Claim that the Neptune's Appropriation Should Be Divided Among the Three Companies—Dan Battle to Act as Grand Marshal at Wilkes-Barre March 17.

The article in a recent issue of the Truth from the secretary of the William Connell Hose company, touching upon the estimates committee of the council and also bestowing a few laudatory compliments on Councilman Robinson of the Eleventh ward, has influenced the thinking of the members of the Century Hose company.

An appropriation of $3,500 was granted to the Neptune's for the purchase of a new steamer, to the exclusion of the two other companies on this side. One of the most skillful steam fitters in the city, has declared that the steamer now in use by the Neptune's can be repaired as good as new at an outlay of $500. At that rate the balance of the appropriation, $3,000, the firemen argue, should be fairly divided among the three companies toward procuring steady men and some necessary equipments.

A prominent member of the Century gave the following facts to the reporter yesterday: Caspar Hartman has a team which is employed by the city council at ordinary work. At night the team is stabled in the Century's building. The driver, who sleeps in the building, gets $5 per month by way of perquisite, making $60 per year. During the year 1893 nineteen fires broke out in the district. For attendance at each of these fires, Mr. Hartman received $2.50, altogether $47.50. He lost, it will be seen, $12.50. Almost a similar case is that of the Wm. Connell's. If this lavish generosity in dealing with the Neptune's can be resolved to a satisfactory conclusion, based on stable and legitimate premises, it will please many members of the Century, who, in the language of street, are already "pretty hot in the collar."

Exhibited Wonderful Nerve. A story that shows the remarkable nerve of a common, every day appearing man is just going the rounds in this portion of the city. The hero of the tale is William L. Mogg, motor-man on one of the South Side cars, and is as follows: Last Saturday Mogg was bothered with an aching tooth. It was so annoying that he was obliged to quit work. The source of the pain was in the root of a tooth that broke off some four years ago. He went home at once after obtaining a substitute and determined to put an end to the pain. He had an old pair of pliers at home that he had used when he was employed as a line-man some years ago. He determined to act the dentist. His first effort was to file ridges on the inside of the pliers, and then procuring a crocheted needle he pressed back the gum that had grown over the root. Then placing the pliers on the molar he pulled till it came out. It is only a trifling occurrence, but not one man in a thousand would be equal to the task.

A Bullet in His Head.

Jacob Rentschler, of Alder street, will live to fight another day. His battle with the king of shadows ended in a victory for his side. The bullet is still embedded in his head, but the physicians state that he can safely carry it with him without fear of trouble from it hereafter. In time the ball will become encysted, and after that remain a peaceful component part of his anatomy. Dr. King dressed the wound on his face for the last time yesterday.

A Good Selection.

Dan Battle will ornament the head of the parade of the Ancient Order of Hibernians in Wilkes-Barre on St. Patrick's Day. He has been unanimously chosen grand marshal. Every division of Lackawanna and Luzerne counties will march on the occasion.
